

What is DBMS?

- DBMS stands for Database Management System.
- DBMS is a system software responsible for the creation, retrieval, updation and management of the databases.
- It acts as an interface between user and database.
- It also ensure that data is consistent and easily accessed.